Tyler Groneck Promoted to Chief Technology Officer Leading Regional Community Bank Signals Commitment to Banking Technology by Elevating Technology Leader

(Burlington, Kentucky, June 24, 2020) – Tyler Groneck has been promoted to chief technology officer. He joined the bank as vice president, information technology in 2018.

“Tyler is a well-rounded technology leader with expertise in the banking industry,” said Kevin Mooney, chief operations officer. “Since he was recruited to the bank, Tyler has improved our operating systems and increased our cyber security.”

Groneck earned a bachelor’s degree in Computer Information Technology at Northern Kentucky University. He is also a Six Sigma Green Belt, expert in improving quality through process improvement.

Tyler started his banking career as a business analyst at Bank of Kentucky. When Bank of Kentucky was acquired by BB&T, he joined the information technology team, advancing to ADS Senior System Analyst.

“Tyler has earned his new role through hard work and excellent results,” said Lee Scheben, president. “Technology is a priority at Heritage Bank, and we are fortunate to have someone of Tyler’s caliber onboard.”

About Heritage Bank

Heritage Bank was founded in 1990 by a group of local businesspeople alarmed about the shrinking access to community banks able and eager to respond to regional consumer and business banking needs. Now serving Cincinnati and Northern Kentucky through 19 branches, the bank remains a family-owned institution, already grooming the third generation of leadership. In an age of ongoing consolidation, Heritage Bank is resolute about remaining an independent bank, rooted in the communities where we operate. Heritage Bank, Member FDIC.
